CONSUMPTION,

which is Scrofula of the Lungs, is arrested and cured by this remedy, if taken before the last stages of the disease are reached. From its marvelous power over this terrible disease, when first offering this now celebrated remedy to the public, Dr. Pierce thought seriously of calling it his "Consumption Cure," but abandoned that name as too limited for a medicine which, from its wonderful combination of tonic, or strengthening, alternative, or blood-cleansing, antiscrofulous, pectoral, and nutritive properties, is unequalled, not only as a remedy for consumption, but for all Chronic Diseases of the ## Liver, Blood, and Lungs.

If you feel dull, drowsy, debilitated, have a yellowish color of skin, or yellowish-brown spots on face or body, frequent headache or dizziness, bad taste in mouth, internal heat or chills, alternating with hot flushes, low spirits and gloomy forebodings, irregular appetite and coated tongue, you are suffering from Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and Torpid Liver, or "Biliousness." In many cases only part of these symptoms are experienced. As a remedy for all such cases, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is unsurpassed.

Send ten cents in stamps for Dr. Pierce's book on Consumption. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, 665 Main Street, Buffalo, N. Y.

The Port Royal Road.

To the Chronicle.

Your balmy weather wrath, poured out upon the road commissioners, in regard to the "swamps, ravines, gulches and mountain peaks" between Clarksville and Port Royal, surely will call them to the front ranks in behalf of the weary wagoner, and constant traveler of such roads.

If the next northern blizzard gives you capacity to breathe vengeance in stronger terms, inasmuch that the neglectful commissioner will tremble in his boots, and contemplate flight to the mountains of Hepesdam, we hope he'll embark by land, via Port Royal, as far as Adam's Station, and see for himself, the lamentable condition of our roads. In all kindness, we would suggest that he bring with him a bell of calling tones as an appeal for aid, in case some cruel gulch should swallow him up. Years ago, our tender sympathies were aroused by reading a story in the blue-back spelling book of the lad in the apple tree. The old man tried persuasion with no avail—then the "virtue of stones" and the boy—well, apply the sequel.

Next, in importance to the road question, in our minds is tobacco, and we all wish we had many more such writers as "A. J. W." of Trenton, on the Tobacco Tax. Some years since, I inquired of one of our congressmen what he thought of the abolition of the tax. He replied by saying, it would not affect our section, as we only raised export tobacco. I believe now, as then, that we have the best chewing tobacco in a raw state, known to the world, and by examining the packets of our largest tobacco buyers I will venture to say, you will find they use the unadulterated Clarksville growth, in preference to any other production manufactured.

Yours appealingly,
WEARY WAGONER.

Port Royal, March, 8, 1886.

N. GREEN in the Lebanon Herald demands the repeal of the old law which provides that no man shall be a competent witness in a court of justice who does not believe in God and in a future state of reward and punishment. Mr. Green is correct in his reasoning. The hope of reward and the fear of punishment is a slavish proposition. The man who will not tell the truth for truth's sake and out of respect for his own manhood cannot be trusted to tell the truth in regard to what he believes in regard to any given subject. Perjury ought to be punished more promptly, and as it is a matter of civil and not religious opinion in the Court house, it would be an effective matter with many witnesses if the oath, instead of ending in the words: "so help me God," were changed so that the clerk would be instructed to ask "do you promise that the evidence you give in this case shall be the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth, so help you Sheriff?"

Our Home Workmen.

Now that our monied men are investing in two new hotels and fitting up a splendid opera house we deem it a fit occasion to speak a kindly word in the interest of the mechanics and laborers whose homes are in Clarksville and whose strong arms do so much of the hard work which has built up the city and which is now sustaining its prosperity.

Clarksville is distinguished for its fine church edifices, its elegant private residences, its splendid public buildings—its Tobacco Exchange and Court House equaling in architectural magnificence any buildings of that character in any city of the South. To the erection of those buildings Clarksville skill and Clarksville labor have largely contributed, and the working man who now walks our streets can view with commendable pride the results of the work of his own hands.

But the work which should have been given to Clarksville mechanics has in some instances been given to men of other cities and the money which should have been kept among our own people has been given to strangers. This is wrong in every view of the case. It tends to deprive our honest, toiling citizen of the means of supporting their families and educating their children, and this system, if carried to its legitimate result, will drive away from our city every workman whose self-respect encourages him to demand a fair day's wages for an honest day's work.

The preacher in Clarksville who stands in a church built by strangers cannot expect among his hearers the working man of this city whose services were refused when he applied for work upon the building, and when from the pulpit the preacher recites in solemn tones the Parable of the Vineyard and the penny a day it will not be heard by the men who bear the burden and heat of the day in the forges and workshops of our city.

Forbes & Co., of Bowling Green, Ky., were given the woodwork of the Methodist church while the wood-work of the court-house and the recent improvements, including the elegant spire of the Baptist church, were done by Clarksville workmen. We mean by this, of course, no reflection upon the religion of our Methodist friends, we are not discussing creeds, but dollars, dollars that are prime necessities in this working world, and we only ask our religious friends as well as our sinner friends to agree upon the one great moral principle that "The labor is worthy of his hire," and that, a sense of common justice demands that preference in all cases should be given to Clarksville workmen.

Now, before a contract is let or a pick has been stuck in the ground, we ask our business men to give the workmen of Clarksville the first chance at all the important work now contemplated. We ask this for the sake of justice, for the rights of the working man, and the prosperity of the city which is the home alike of the day laborer, the merchant and the banker. Oppressed workmen are crying out all over the North because they are wrongfully deprived by monopolies of a fair reward for their labor, but we hope this may never be the case in the South. Clarksville men, capitalists and laborers, should henceforth work together as a community, each receiving justice and all working for the progress and prosperity of our city.

MR. EDITOR.—I see in your paper that the amount for a first class hotel is about raised, to be built on the Central hotel lot. Now this is a dear old place to me, and I hope to see it go up very soon, if it is in the suburbs. All places that does the business of Clarksville need a good cheap resting place for the traveling public. This is a splendid place for the business, as you know. I came here three years ago, with four rooms, dining room and cook room, I now have thirty good rooms, can accommodate one hundred guests, if I am crowded as usual my landlord will put up twenty more. I will say then as I do now, all that are weary and hungry come I will give you as good fare as you can get in Tennessee. There may not be as much style, but that will be all forgotten when you see the table filled with such as you expect at a high priced house. Now it seems very strange for a place like this, that can boast of three of the very best papers in the State that they never publish the arrivals from the registers as every body in town is anxious to know who has been here during the week.

Peach trees are in bloom, and if nothing occurs to injure them we will have an abundant crop of peaches in the country this year.

Master Henry Wilcox, the five year old son of Mrs. Jennie Wilcox, is quite sick. The mother and child have the sympathy of our people in their affliction.

Rev. N. E. Bagwell, who recently removed from Adam's Station to the farm which he purchased near Ringgold, visited his sister Mrs. J. M. Larkin, last Monday. Mr. Bagwell is a native of Montgomery county, and is a worthy christian gentleman.

At this season of the year, before our street was macadamized it was almost impassable. Although it is much superior to what it used to be it could be improved greatly. The recent heavy rains and the constant wear and tear by wagons loaded with tobacco, etc., is cutting through the metal considerably. Good turnpike roads and free bridges would help the business of our city more than some other things that are being talked about at present.

There has sufficient gas been expended here about in the last forty years, in regard to starting various enterprises, to have constructed a windmill with capacity to run all the machinery in two states. Co-operation, concentrated capital and less talk, is what is needed, and is all that is needed to bring about a "boom." "Now is the accepted time,"—to-day. Start the ball in various small enterprises, and then capital and brawn and brain will come in to keep it in motion.

The usual quiet of our neighborhood was much disturbed by a difficulty between J. B. Brickhouse and young Henry Robbins last Monday evening. From all we can gather it appears that Brickhouse was quarrelling with his family and it is also said that he had abused one of his step-daughters, when Henry Robbins, a nephew of Mrs. Brickhouse, interposed to protect them, and was stabbed by Brickhouse, the knife cutting him just below the heart. Constable C. Lowe and Policeman Stafford arrested Brickhouse, and young Robbins was carried in at Mr. J. J. Prewitt's residence where his wound was properly attended to by Drs. Trawick and Beaumont. Brickhouse was tried before S. A. Caldwell, Esq., on Tuesday evening, and acquitted upon the ground of self-defense.

In these days when we get men in office who discharge the duties incumbent upon them without fear or favor, and who act with fidelity in handling their finances, we think they should be retained in such offices so long as they continue to act thus. In the person of Charlie Lowe, our district constable, we have a man of this kind, and all who place business in his hands may rely upon having it strictly and faithfully attended to.

If Judge DeBose, of Memphis, had carried out his idea of stripping our old friend David P. Hadden's official robes from him and sending him for a term to the work house, there would have been a brisk demand for Ambulances (as Cave used to call Ambulances) to have carried off the wounded. The president of the taxing district of Memphis is conscientiously honest in the discharge of his duties, and knowing this, Judge DeBose should not have been so severe in his criticism of Mr. Hadden's official acts. Since this official reprimand we see that quite a number of the most prominent citizens met at the Cotton Exchange and presented Mr. Hadden with a magnificent silver set, numbering 115 pieces, and valued at $1,000, as a recognition of his fidelity and ability. A satin card, attached to one of the cases of silver, read "To David P. Hadden, President of the Taxing District—from his friends"—with fifty signatures. His old friends in Clarksville will be glad to know that his true worth as an honorable, energetic business man is so much appreciated in Memphis.

EM QUAD.

As proof that Clarksville is the best leaf tobacco market in the United States the sales Wednesday show that the auctioneer, Capt. Tom Hyman sold for the Gracey House, Smith & Anderson proprietors, four hogheads of Logan county, Ky., tobacco, raised by Miller & Son, at the following round figures: 1 hoghead for $16.75, 1 hoghead for $14.00, 1 hoghead for $12.00, 1 hoghead for $11.00.

AND now the people of Knoxville are abusing Gov. Alf's persecuted little brother Robert because he appointed a comparative stranger coal oil inspector for Knoxville instead of the man they wanted. Like old Mrs. Partington, every time he opens his mouth he puts his foot in it.

Real Estate Transfers.

James T. Wood, real estate agent sold this week the Tandy property corner of Seventh and Commerce streets to Mr. W. H. Drane for $1,500.

George W. Buck sold to Mrs. E. H. Marable his dwelling house and lot on the corner of Madison and Depot streets for $3,000.

THAT must be a cheeky individual who wrote to the Nashville Union and said the Paris Tribune does not represent the Democracy of Henry county. Boyd ought to call for his name and give it to the public.

JAS. P. GILL has just received a car load of fine Kentucky mules at his stable on Second street. These mules are for sale and farmers who want good teams will do well to call early and make selections. Mr. Gill is an acknowledged authority on fine stock and guarantees every animal to be as represented.

A VERY pleasing and not at all difficult new and original musical composition is the K. of L. Grand March by J. Y. M. A strong military rhythm prevails in the entire March, which will, (besides its intended purpose), prove very acceptable at school exercises and exhibitions. Solo 40 cts., duet 50 cts. Ign. Fischer, Publisher, Toledo, O.

MR. PLUMMER, of Nashville, will take $2,000 stock in Mr. Bringham's Hotel enterprise, the owners of the adjoining bank building and the other buildings next to the bank have all agreed to take liberal shares of the stock, and there is but one more party now required to complete the arrangement for making the Franklin House one of the most elegant and commodious hotels in the State. Mr. Bringham is deservedly popular and his friends all wish him success.

Buist's Garden Seed.

Mr. Wm. H. Turnley, salesman of the popular Tobacco Warehouse firm of Adams, Gill & Co., of this city, brought to our office Thursday morning four samples of paemium Robertson county tobacco for which premiums of $20, $15, $10 and $5 were given last Monday at Springfield by Mr. Jeff D. Clinard, agent for the Homestead Tobacco Grower.

Fifty or sixty samples were offered and the first premium of $20 was awarded to Mr. P. B. Bradley of Pleasant View, Tenn., which was bought by B. A. York at a fancy price, loose, and it will be sold at the Clarksville Exchange. The second, third and fourth premiums were awarded respectively to Mr. Wiley Smith of Springfield; Mr. M. F. Rose, of Barren Plains, Tenn.; and Mr. John Farmer, of Cedar Hill, Tenn. The Judges were Mr. C. C. Bell, of Springfield, and Messrs. W. H. Turnley and Charles Hallums, of Clarksville. Buyers will do well to keep a look out for this tobacco. We will give notice of the day when it will be sold.

A THIEF stole the key of Mr. Riggins' safe in New Providence Wednesday night and took from it $100 in silver. He overlooked a large sum of paper money.

ST. PATRICK'S Day, the 17th will be celebrated in appropriate style in Nashville, and we hope our Irish kinsmen in Clarksville will also do honor to the memory of the Patron Saint of the loved Emerald Isle, the home of Phillips Curran, Grattan, Emmett and Moore, the land of chivalry, eloquence and song. Let some rich Irish voice again recite from Moore:

Dear harp of my Country! in darkness I found thee,
The cold chain of silence has hung o'er thee long.
When, proudly, my own Island Harp, I unbound thee,
And gave all thy chords to light, freedom and song!
The warm lay of love and the light note of gladness
Have awakened thy fondest, thy liveliest thrill;
But so oft hast thou echo'd the deep sigh of sadness
That ev'n in thy mirth it will steal from thee still.

Dear Harp of my Country! farewell to thy numbers,
This sweet wreath of song is the last we shall twine.
Go, sleep with the sunshine of Fame on thy slumbers,
Till touch'd by some hand less unworthy than mine,
If the pulse of the patriot, soldier, or lover,
Have throbb'd at our lay, 'tis thy glory alone; I was but as the wind, passing headlessly over,
And all the wild sweetness I wak'd was thy own.

"SPINOZA" and "CIVIS" have reappeared in the American like "the flowers that bloom in the spring," and they will buzz in the readers ears through the drowsy hours of summer discussing prohibition while the people are cursing both of them, until "The Swallows Roost Again."

No man in Clarksville who knows anything about Masonry believes that the fraternity has anything to do with the Brickhouse and Robbins affray. The correspondent of the American ought to confine himself to options and let fraternalites alone.
